| Vision statement: | At Landau Forte our curriculum exists to ensure all students regardless of background and ability have the opportunity to unlock their potential. We are committed to students being challenged from their previous key stage learning experiences. Our broad and balanced curriculum is ambitious, coherently planned and sequenced, and will provide the platform for preparing students with the foundations for examination success. Our Curriculum Intent has been informed by a wide variety of researchers and is steeped in evidence based research. Christine Counsell summarises the aspiration of our curriculum to empower all learners creating a pathway to success in university, their career and life: ‘A curriculum exists to change the pupil, to give the pupil new power. One acid test for a curriculum is whether it enables even lower attaining or disadvantaged pupils to clamber into the discourse and practices of educated people, so that they gain powers of the powerful.’ As well as excellent academic success we aim to ensure our students leave us as polite and well-rounded young adults. Our new core values of Compassion, Courage and Curiosity are currently being embedded throughout our curriculum offer to ensure we continue to meet our social, emotional, spiritual and moral obligations. | | | |
| Curriculum intent: | Must include school values (3Cs) French Subject Intent French is a widely spoken European Language with a rich cultural and historical heritage. In French, we believe that practice is central to making rapid progress in language acquisition and its mastery for independent use. We believe that the aim of great language teaching is to bring together language that is learned over time for the purposes of meaningful communication. Within the context of our classrooms, we intend on making every minute of language practice count so we can help foster the development of confident French speakers who retain what they learn. In French, we believe that a curriculum underpinned by knowledge of phonics, vocabulary and grammar is required to understand and express meaning. We thus also believe that great language teaching represents a shift away from ‘task’, ‘function’ or isolated, self-contained ‘skills’. Learners benefit from plentiful practice in ‘input language’ (listening and reading) through structured tasks that require learners to connect a sound-symbol correspondence, word or structure to its meaning or function. This kind of practice establishes knowledge receptively, before expecting learners to produce it in writing or speaking. Our pedagogy is research and evidence based and our curriculum ensures learners will benefit from ample practice in producing new language in writing and speaking activities that retain the link between form and meaning. We intend on the characteristics of good language learning to be: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Contingency – the speaker (or writer) has something to say as a result of understanding what has been said (or written) | | | |

COURAGE

- Synthesis – language use brings together a wider range (lexical and/or grammatical) of language than in preceding structured practice, across modes (comprehension and production) and modalities (oral and written)
- Extension – the same language and structures are used in different contexts and for different communicative purposes
- Choice – the learner has a greater level of autonomy in deciding what to say and how to say it

At LFA QEMS, Students are encouraged to appreciate diversity in terms of culture and language, and to look beyond their immediate environments. Students are encouraged to broaden their world view, and to consider how languages can provide opportunities in later life, regardless of background.

- To foster an interest in foreign languages and foreign culture
- To encourage students to continue to learn a language after leaving the academy, or to consider it in later life
- For students to be able to communicate in a foreign language in order to broaden their cultural, academic and professional opportunities.
